

Part One B.Tailong (Peaceful Dragon)

Transformer Factory

(A Brief Introduction)

Our factory is specialized in the production of mini-transformers through the use of powerful, cutting edge technology, of which the central components are imported from Germany. We frequently handle orders for advanced mini-transformer from internationally renowned Japanese and Korean companies such as Toshiba, Sharp, and Samsung. More recently, we have focused our resources on the production of mini-transformers used in notebook computers. We are responsible for the production of one out of every three transformers used in all Chinese manufactured computers. Such a market share tops transformer production in China.

Previously, Tailong was affiliated with Taida Electronic Company, a Sino-Singapore joint venture. In 2000, our company was transformed into a share-holding enterprise with independent legal status. Currently we have 190 full-time employees and 150 contract-based temporary employees. Our annual revenue is nearly $8 million.

Our factory motto is: We will excel by maintaining high quality and will develop based on our creations. All members of the factory must unite as one and within 10 years we will be the largest mini-transformer factory in China.
